The Work-based Assessment Programme

Validate

Validate is designed to assess that employees who have developed the required skills and knowledge to perform their job to the correct standard.

How does it work?

It is a flexible programme enabling employers and individuals to select the modules that are most relevant to their job role. The modules can be taken individually or as part of a programme to demonstrate competence. Each module is assessed by a competent individual using a combination of on-the-job observation and question and answer sessions. Certification is available and up to five modules can be listed on each Validate Certificate.
